

ATX NAMED BEST SALES TEAM BY AMERICAN BUSINESS AWARDS<sup>SM</sup>

RYE BROOK, N.Y. - June 26, 2007 - ATX Communications, part of Broadview Networks, has won the 2007 American Business Award for Best Sales Team, the Company announced today.

ATX received the award during ceremonies earlier this month in New York City's Times Square. The American Business Awards are the only national, all-encompassing business awards program honoring great performances in the workplace. Other 2007 ABA winners announced at the June 11th gala include Adobe Systems, Wells Fargo and Company, Dow Jones, Eastman Kodak, and CareerBuilder.com.

ATX was selected for Best Sales Team honors over other finalists including AT&T and Trane. The award specifically recognizes the achievements of ATX's New Jersey sales organization, which produced approximately one-third of the Company's total revenue in 2006, capitalizing on strong demand for ATX's Voice over IP (VoIP) and managed network security offerings. The team's outstanding performance in 2006 also helped the Company earn recognition in awards programs produced by NJBIZ (finalist, Business of the Year) and the New Jersey Technology Council (winner, Communications Company of the Year).

More than 2,000 entries from companies across the country representing all sizes and industries competed in numerous categories for the fifth annual American Business Awards program. ATX was also a 2007 ABA Finalist in the category of Best Customer Service Organization - a distinction it won last year - and Broadview Networks received Finalist honors for Best Product Development Organization.
